Suggestion: Get rid of the SGA parking spaces and make them walk like everyone else.

Answer: I'm very surprised that this was the first response we received regarding this issue, but I'm more than willing to address it. As an organization, our four executive officers spend much more time on campus than the average student. Unlike many schools, our SGA officials DO NOT receive compensation for their services to this campus. Therefore, some sort of incentive system needed to be devised for those who sacrifice their time and effort to improve experiences of students like YOU. Our officers are serving this campus completely free of charge, and the parking spaces are just a small way for the students to say "thank you for your hard work." Our officers aren't "just like everyone else", according to your note, because they stepped up and offered their time to serve this campus. Let me also remind you that we didn't just slap the signs up there one afternoon when we got bored. These four spaces were approved by the Campus Dean, Dr. Daniel Hall. I'm sorry if you feel that our officers are receiving special treatment, but being in SGA is like having another job. Ask any of our group members—the parking spaces are a small token of the campus' appreciation.
